People Energy Transfer (P.E.T.) Day: The idea here is to give our members an opportunity to learn about Permaculture and its practical applications, by working on each other's gardens. It's a fair way to share our energy & time as we help each other move toward a greater level of self-reliance & get to know each other in the process.

Local Energy Trading System (LETS) is a system of trading goods and services without cash. It creates local employment by making use of the community's true wealth - the skills and energy of its people.

What: LETS Trade Day followed by our Permaculture Project - building a Banana Circle.

Tips for the Trade Day - produce and plants are always popular - also bring along preserves, crafts and craft items, household items, appliances, toys, clothing, books and anything else you might like to declutter. Come along and meet other members and watch them trade even if you can't think of any offers or requests for yourself this time.

Then we'll be helping Lenore to build a banana circle and possibly a herb spiral depending on our Energy and time. It's a chance to learn more about Permaculture design. There will be plenty to do and loads of fun to be had so don't miss the opportunity to help Lenore out and learn something for yourself at the same time. Many hands make light work....See you there!
